

International Training of Trainers

October 2013

Dear friends,

It has been a very full and productive month since I last wrote you. Here are a few highlights:

ONE top priority of taking care of my family, helping Holly and the kids get settled and in a good routine before I leave for extended periods. By God's grace, they all are doing well, so I can dive into trainings with single-minded focus.

TWO trainings of US pastors with some excellent prospects for training pastors overseas. US pastors with experience in expository preaching are trained and then connected with communities of pastors globally and pass the training along. It's a WIN-WIN for pastors and the Kingdom! This past month I did trainings in Colorado and Northern California.

THREE solid weeks immersed in the Word in preparation for over 30 lessons and sermons I will be giving in upcoming trainings over the next month. To read more, CLICK HERE.

So what's up next?

On Wednesday, Oct.23, I leave with my dear friend and training buddy Steve Reid for nearly four weeks of international trainings. Here's what the schedule looks like:

Oct.26-29 – Training of pastors in SW India
Oct.30-Nov.1 – Teaching at Pastors Conference in India
Nov.3 – Preach in Kampala, Uganda.
Nov.4-7 – Training of pastors in Kampala

Nov.10 – Preach in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania
Nov.11-14 – Training of pastors in Dar es Salaam
Nov.15-17 – Meet with and train pastors on local island
Nov.18 – Return home. Whew!

I am truly blessed to be working with skilled and godly colleagues in each of these locations. This is what I was made to do, and I'm prepared, so please pray the Lord builds His house (Ps.127:1).

Please join us in prayer:

- Praise God for the opportunity to train pastors internationally and in the US. Offering those most hungry the tools to study, obey and teach God's Word is rewarding beyond words. I am truly grateful.
- Please pray for the trainings for the next month, and pray for Holly and the kids who will continue on with life in Washington.

Steve and Pastor Ikongo

Thank you so much for your continuing prayers and partnership. We're a team, and we need you!
